

Please reconsider allowing BPL. As a member of homeland security, I am concerned with our ability to resolve interference problems when dealing with understaffed utility companies. Currently it is near impossible to have them investigate powerline generated interference even without BPL in place. The only way I've been able to get them out here, is to actually find the source myself and tell them I could see it arcing at night, otherwise they really don't seem to care about noise on the phone or radio.

Thank you for taking my thoughts into consideration,
